DISCRIMINATIVE ANALYSIS OF SELECTED AND REJECTED CADET GIRLS FOR PARTICIPATION IN SUMMER SCHOOL OF SPORT IN TREBINJE 2007

Abstract
The aim of this research is to found the differenece between 19 selected and 42 desert basketball women players cadet ages in Summer Sport`s School Trebinje 2007 and to confirm or to leave experienced criteria in which basis is caried out the analysis of results the tests and made the selection. The canonical diskrimination function different seleceted and desert players significant on the level .000. The desertplayers are on the negative, and the selected ones are on the positive pole. The maximum moving awaz from diskriminative curve have got tests which cover space of power, pliometric abiliteies legs and arms and lomgitudinal dimensionality of skeleton. These results confirm the experienced criteria of the selection players comlitely becouse they are favored results just them and characteristics basketabll players which has genetic base.

Key words*: basketball, selection, discrimination function*